CLASS HISTORY

1950. "School days, school days, oh those golden rule days . . . " This is the beginning of a momentous journey which, at first, to some brought joy and laughter, to others, tears and sad farewells. But to all, a new experience.

At Mechanic Street School, Terry was the first to experience the wrath of a superior. "One mustn't throw rocks during school, Terry!" John Hanic had discovered that Terry had thrown one.

Even after our first experience, we were eager young students--and second grade was upon us. Miss Raine was quite interested in our learning to count by two's.

In the next grade, Miss Crowley was our mathematician. Every third-grader knew his multiplication tables upside down and backwards. At South Main Street School, Mrs. LeBlanc and Miss Makepeace were more interested in our appreciation of fine art and music. Sometimes we sang for hours. Katy Watson joined our class this year.

Now we were "Sugar Plums." Mrs. Sherman must have enjoyed that specially prepared relish which John and Mary Furgal used to give her. Some of us made many fearful trips to Mrs. Sherman's big, mysterious room to learn of the evils of talking during class.

The high school and South Main Street School were the stages for fifth grade. At South Main we learned to read notes. Do you remember: "The farthest flat to the right, called 'fa' . . . "? And we enjoyed coloring on transparent globes. (Now do you know where to find Zanzibar?) As fifth grade came to a close, we became ardent baseball fans. Miss Holda's class challenged Mr. Dihlmann's class, and Miss Holda's class won, 9-2.

1955. This summer Monson suffered great property damage and losses from the flood which followed the hurricane. What most of us will remember most vividly are those terrible Typhoid "shots."

Two weeks later, Mrs. Norcross and Mr. Nell greeted us as we tiptoed across the catwalk to State Street School. Mr. Nell rang quite a charming "bell" signaling the end of recess and lunch. In the middle of winter, we changed headquarters to Mechanic Street School, since the new elementary school, Hillside, had been built. In science class, Mr. Nell gave us a "shocking" introduction to electricity. While on a special occasion, "Fearless" Fred and Giles treated us to an army demonstrations, of everything from rations to rifles.

Junior High School--the years of preparation. More mature and seemingly wiser, we entered South Main Street School. We elected Student Council Representatives and published our school newspaper, the "Colonial." During club period, the Drama Club was usually preparing a skit for the next assembly. Our experiments in science class led us to believe that we were destined to become great scientists. That year we visited the Musuem of Natural History and Science in Springfield and picnicked at Forest Park.

Eighth grade offered us a greater challenge. This year we visited Sturbridge Village and historic Boston. Most of us remember our band concerts, Jim Pascale's broken leg, and Christina's new look (No braids!). During graduation assembly, Terry and Christina were presented the Scholarship and Citizenship Awards.

High School--as freshmen, we had to be initiated; David Martin entertained everyone with his ballet, "Swan Lake." To us, the seniors were omniscient beings, to be worshiped and held in awe. Basketball practice and games were new and exciting. On the social aspect, our class project was the formal senior reception, "Over The Rainbow."

Sophomores--Mrs. Amell was our new class adviser and adviser of the French Club. As sophomores, we were awakened to the fact that our Washington trip was fast approaching. As a result, class dues were increased. "Autumn Leaves" was the theme for our Sophomore Hop. Our class seemed never to be without a party, and our sophomore year ended with a party at Barbara Costa's.

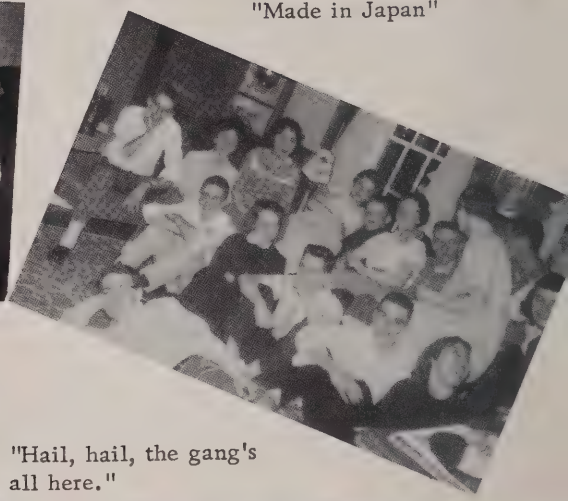
1960. Juniors--we had reached distinction. Of course, we were faced with new responsibilities. The "Monsonia" was in question; for many of us, college or business school loomed ahead. The theme for the Junior Prom, "Mason-Dixon Jubilee" was an innovation. Mary Furgal was queen, and she reigned supreme. This year Rita Jolly joined us. "Le Cercle Francais" journeyed to Canada; Montreal and Quebec will always be remembered, n'est-ce pas? (Those poor French Canadians, trying to understand our "French"!) Our one-act Play, "Pot of Gold," won the high school contest to our great surprise and delight.

Now we are seniors and our school years together are coming to an end; but as we go our separate ways, these wonderful memories will never be forgotten.

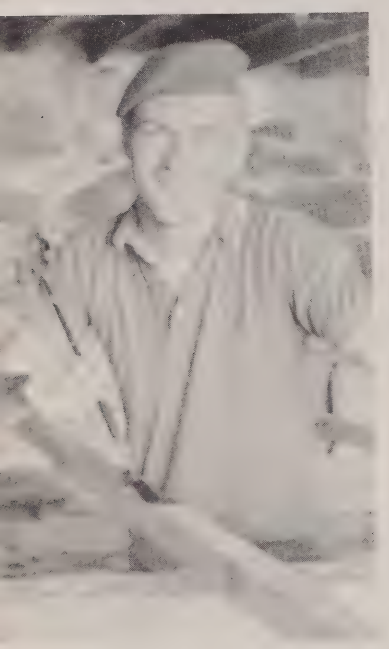
"The line-up."

"Made in Japan"

"Hi, doll."



"Hail, hail, the gang's all here."



"Frenchy"

"Now, class . . . "

"Me and my shadow."

"Where the boys are."

"Let's twist again."

"Sunburn lotion, anyone?"
